

Leading with Audacity: The Role of Daring Leadership in Inspiring Ambitious Workforces

The measure of a daring leader can be quantified by the number of those who follow without coercion. Ambitious workforces require courageous ground breakers to maximise their collective potential.

Our guest speaker today is a former West End actor, professional saxophonist, and disabled pilot, as former Heads of Acting and Voice in top UK conservatoires, she is a leading expert in elite performance training.

She uses the story of overcoming the loss of the use of her arm to become pilot in command of an aircraft to challenge preconceptions about self-imposed limitation.

She is going to unpick the anatomy of courage and help us to evaluate our own appetite for risk-taking and reward by inverting our preconceptions about the power of presence founded on ideas of surrender and self-nurture.

Please welcome Elite Performance Expert, Charlotte Storey
